A Startling Rumor—Hayes to be Taken Down and Grant Put up For President.

DOES THIS MEAN REVOLUTION?

POOL PROPHESIES.

Even on the General Result, and Long Odds in Favor of Tilden in New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—At Morrissey's last night the pool selling on the general result of the presidential election was at even figures, $500 even being recorded in one bet on the result. In the state of New York Tilden led the call at the odds of $600 to $350, while on the majoralty, Ely sold stead for one hundred to the field at fifty.

CABINET WRIGGLING.

Trying to Justify the Using of the Army to Intimidate the White Voters of South Carolina.

WASHINGTON, October 20.—The cabinet to-day heard the report of Marshal R. M. Wallace, of South Carolina, on the affairs in that state, presented by Attorney General Taft. The report is mainly a recapitulation of the representations heretofore made by Gov. Chamberlain and Senator Patterson. No action was taken.

The proceedings seem to have had for their object the justification of Tuesday's cabinet action and Cameron's order to Sherman, which resulted in massing the army of the United States, not engaged in the Indian war, at Columbia, S. C.

"COME DOWN RUTHERFORD"

A Radical Coup d'etat Proposed—Grant to be Substituted for Hayes—Is it True?

The Louisville Courier-Journal, in double-leaded type, prints the startling rumor that the radical leaders, stunned by their reverses, especially in Indiana, contemplate the withdrawal of Hayes' name and the substitution therefor of Grant's. The Kentucky paper follows up this idea in the subjoined memorable language: "The meaning of this would be revolution. The party of fraud and force, feeling itself beaten, knows that its only resort is the bayonet and martial law, rigorously enforced by the man in possession. It is thought by those who are urging this measure that violence can be made to count for more before than after the election, and they argue that nobody but Grant can carry out the scheme.

"The republican managers see that Hayes is beaten. There is not a ghost of a chance for him with a fair election.

"Chandler, Cameron and Morton understand all this perfectly. Like Boutwell, they have each taken ground that the election of a democratic administration means war The question, therefore, which they are now discussing is whether they shall go to the polls with Hayes, to meet certain defeat, and try to create a disturbance as to the result and count him in anyhow, or whether, remembering that possession is nine points of the law, they shall take the bolder course—withdraw Hayes, substitute Grant, and with Grant and those northern states which cannot be affected, precipitate the appearance of civil war in the south, throw the whole southern territory under military subjection, and so carry the southern states by sheer force of arms.

BLAINE WAVES THE SHIRT!

A Venemous Speech From Apoplectic Jim—Was the War a Failure?

Mr. Blaine addressed an immense crowd at Philadelphia on the 19th. The gentleman began by stating that fourteen years ago he had entered congress, and the first winter that he sat in the house they had under discussion a bill to prescribe a test oath for persons who should thereafter hold office under the government. That had since become historic, and was popularly known as the ironclad oath. The object of that measure was to prevent men who had been in rebellion against the United States from holding office under the government afterward. Thomas A. Hendricks, then senator from Indiana, then said, on the floor of the senate, that such a measure was useless, as the prominent rebels would never seek office, but would fly the country. Mr. Blaine thought then that the gentleman was right, and he certainly would have considered himself a very wild dreamer if he could have thought that he should remain on the floor of the house long enough to see (as he had seen in November last) seventy of those men stand up at the bar of the house and be sworn in as democratic members. And whereas the speaker and every other loyal man was compelled to swear that he never did rebel and never would, and that they took the oath without any mental reservation, those seventy southern scamps—("applause")—were admitted on a simple promise that they would try to behave themselve hereafter. These men had taken command of the house. Never, even under Pierce or Buchanan, was southern domination so absolute as had been in the last congress. Samuel J. Tilden vitalized his sentiments into deeds. In 1864, when the national democratic convention met at Chicago, he moved the appointment of the committee on resolutions, with whose action he became identified. We all remember what that committee did. In solemn tones it declared

THE WAR WAS A FAILURE.

In Joe Johnston's history he says that action at Chicago did more to revive and stimulate the confederates than any other single event that happened during the war. You republicans who are here might know how our hearts sunk within us when that sentiment was proclaimed from Chicago. But we were fated to returning joy. That was a man—as brave a little Irish soldier as ever stepped—who was struggling in the valley of the Shenandoah. When he rode that wild ride from Winchester and rolled back the current of rebel success he proclaimed in emphatic terms, this war is not a failure! (Cheers.) General Sherman, as he carried the stars and stripes far into the south, declared, this war is not a failure! (Cheers.) General Grant, as he throttled the rebellion, said plainly, this war is not a failure. (Loud cheers.) General Rutherford B. Hayes, in the heat of battle, with three of his ribs broken and four horses shot dead at his feet, cried out then as he cries vehemently to-day: "Sammy, Sammy, there is no failure in the American war." (Prolonged cheers.) But better, far better, than the conflict of the field, was the matchless triumph in congress, when 4,000,000 of slaves were declared slaves no longer. To-day, with the chains of servitude broken at their feet, they look every rebel in the face and say:—"There was no failure in that war."

CAMPAIGN CHIPS AND WHITTLINGS.

Oh, no, siree, Messrs. Republicans! You won't capture the house of representatives yet awhile. The people do not forget that the present house has scaled down expenses some thirty millions.—Boston Post.

A united south then let us have—united in the support of Tilden, Hendricks and reform; united in the support of law, order and good government; united in sustaining the union, in enforcing the laws, and in preserving the constitution in its integrity.—Richmond Whig.

From every point of view the house must be close, and the decision, like that of the presidential vote, rests with the middle states; and the republicans all over the country will need to put in their very best licks if they expect to name the next speaker.—Springfield Republican (ind).

When Mr. Harrison, of Indiana, rose yesterday morning and saw his broadcloth breeches hanging over the back of a chair, he remarked to Mrs. H. that he believed he would have a suit of that blue jeans made up as the weather was getting rather crisp.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

JUDGE BLACK ON CAROLINA.

He Proposes that Hampton Shall Withdraw from the Canvass.

NEW YORK, Oct 19.—A Washington dispatch says there was an informal meeting of democrats at the Ebbitt House late last evening to discuss what policy shall be best to adopt to meet the revolutionary move of Grant upon South Carolina. Judge Jere Black was principal spokesman. A plan was broached and approved which will be perfected to-morrow. Tihs is to telegraph Wade Hampton and his followers to peremptorily and leave the republican ticket without any opposition. Then the democratic house will not allow the vote of South Carolina to be counted next February upon the ground of illegality.

WITHDRAW FROM THE CANVASS,

YELLOW FEVER.

Charleston.

CHARLESTON, October 18.

One (1) certificate of death from yellow fever has been received at this office up to 12 o'clock M. to day.

By order of the Board of Health.

P. B. BACOT, Secretary.

The general sanitary condition, as appears from the inspector's reports before you, never was as good as at this time; and they also report no new cases of fever; several cases under treatment are said to be convalescent, excepting one in Elliott street, and another in Queen street attended by Dr. Robertson. The general health of the city never was better than it is now at this season of the year. The bill of mortality for the week ending Saturday, 14th instant, shows deaths of children under one year of both races, 12; between 5 and 10, 11; between 10 and 40, 12; between 50 and 90, 13, of which 23 were whites and 25 blacks and colored, from the following causes, viz: Fevers of all types, 6; diphtheria, 7; consumption, 7; dropsey, 3; hemorrhage, 2; premature and still-births, 5; from all other diseases prevalent in cities, 17. Making a grand total of 48.

Savannah.

News, 19th.

The mortuary for the day ending six o'clock yesterday evening, shows a total of seven deaths, of which three were from yellow fever. This is the smallest number that has been reported in any one day since the breaking out of the epidemic, and is very gratifying, indicating a gradual disappearance of the dreadful pestilence that has prevailed for two months. Absentees, however, should not return until it is authoritatively stated that they can do so.

We are pleased to learn that Dr. White, who has been extremely ill with the fever, is rapidly improving. His labors amongst our suffering people have been so continuous, so unselfish, and so successful, in mitigating suffering, that our people are more than anxious that his recovery should be complete and speedy.

Jeremiah Sheahan, residing at southeast corner St. Julian and Price, was presented by his wife last evening with triplets—two boys and one girl—Dr. Stone officiating. This affair being quite unexpected by the family, and owing to yellow fever times, the wardrobe of the strangers is quite limited. Any contributions of baby clothing will be thankfully received.

SAVANNAH, October 20.—Total interments to-day eight, of which three were from yellow fever.

—For a long time, readers of the paper which claims to have "the largest circulation in the world" have remarked that the smallest item of news having any connection with the royal family has always set that journal a-gush with a sentimental flood of unctuous adulation. When the prince of Wales was ill, it tore its hair and beat its breast and howled with anguish. If Prince Leopold catches cold, the snuffle first appears in the Daily Telegraph. The source of all these tears has just been discovered by some of our literary detectives. It appears that on the death of the late prince consort, of irrepressible memory, the queen by accident saw an article written on the subject in the Daily Telegraph, which so pleased her that she immediately ordered a copy of that paper to be sent daily to each of the royal palaces. Ever since then twenty-five copies have been printed on the finest, thickest, whitest paper, and duly forwarded to every abode to which the smallest vein of the royal blood extends. Hereafter, when the Daily Telegraph becomes again maudlin on a royal theme, it may expect to hear suggestions that such things are too deep and sacred to be exposed to the public eye, and should only be printed in a very small edition, say twenty-five, to be read by a few choice spirits capable of appreciating them.—M D Conway's London letter.

—The princess of Wales is long waisted, long necked, and she wears fluffy laces about the throat.

"THE DUCHESS."

REMARKABLE CAREER OF ONE OF THE MAD DEMI-MONDE.

She Preferred Journalism to Journeying.

Yesterday we published an extract from the New York correspondence of the Chicago Tribune, announcing the death of a celebrated member of the demi-monde, popularly known as "The Duchess." She is reported to have died in this city, on the 28th of September, from yellow fever, contracted in Savannah. The correspondent stated that her career was a remarkable one. As the item caused much inquiry we give the following facts that we have elicited concerning her history. She called herself and went by that name. She was the only child of a wealthy farmer of New Jersey. Born on a farm, she grew up a wild, half-tutored country girl until when, she had reached the age of fifteen, her father was elected state senator from the district in which he lived. This was Ella's first introduction to city life, and, as it subsequently proved, her ruin

ELLA RUSSELLE,

In person the girl was ordinarily pretty, with a small figure and a wealth of golden hair; but her greatest charm lay in her quick wit, her readiness at repartee, and her piquant manner. She had but little education, and that mainly drawn from serial story papers and trashy novels One of her admirers subsequently said:

"If he. library had only been a better one, she would have been a greater woman than Fannie Lear."

Her social charms were sufficient, however, to procure her general attention even among the cultured belles of the state capital, and the wit and brilliancy of the "wild Jersey girl" soon became town talk. Admirers flocked to her. Among these was a noted gambler and lobbyist, at that time busy forwarding a railroad scheme. Ella's father knew the character of the man, and refused to countenance any intimacy between him and his daughter, but the pair met, nevertheless, usually resorting to a well-known house of ill-fame in Cass street, where they would spend hours. At last Russelle brought his business to a close and left for New York The girl whom he had seduced disappeared with him. Her father never saw her again. In the office of a Trenton justice of the peace, however, he found a registry of her marriage with Russelle

When next heard of, the girl-wife was at Saratoga. A year had passed since her marriage, and her husband, already tired of her, had transferred his affections to a newer love. To this his wife retaliated by admitting the intimacy of a well-known New York sporting man, at that time connected with John Morrissey's bank

One night Russelle returned from a moonlight ride and, contrary to his custom, went directly to his room. The door was not locked, and he could hear voices speaking within. Pushing the door open, he found himself face to face with an extraordinary scene. His wife, intoxicated and nude, was leaning on the shoulder of a man, himself half undressed, who held a bottle of champagne in one hand while his arm encircled her waist. A number of empty bottles were on the floor, and the disordered condition of the room told that the debauch had continued for many hours.

With a furious oath, Russelle sprang upon the man but before he could strike a second blow he was beaten to the floor with the heavy bottle and hammered to insensibility. When he recovered, his wife and her paramour were gone.

They had established themselves in New York, in the Fifth Avenue hotel, and at first lived happily enough. Then came coldness on the man's part and jealousy on hers. At last Ella discovered his connection with another woman. A savage row followed, in which the man was seriously cut with a penknife in the hands of his beautiful mistress, and Ella hired a servant and rented a French flat on Sixth avenue.

She was not long alone, however, although her lovers were frequently changed. At the beginning of 1872 found her living at the expense of a gallant militia colonel. One night, while drunk, the colonel introduced to her a of local prominence. A week later the colonel himself was given the cold shoulder.

These were her glory days. She soon became a well known figure on newspaper row, and was invested by her journalistic admirers with the title, "the duchess," from Offenbach's famous opera, which was then all the rage, and as the duchess she has since been best known. All newspaperdom laid its homage at her feet, but she remained constant to her original choice. She took part in all the mad revels of her subjects, however, and was the wildest among the wild Bohemians who formed her court.

Among her acquaintances were many artists too. On one occasion the proprietor of a leading illustrated paper came upon her in the art department of his establishment, and a circle of admiring draughtsmen sketching her legs.

A great up-town painter offered her a thousand dollars to stand as a model for a Venus A plaster cast of her leg sold by thousands, and was a favorite chimney ornament with callow bachelors and worn-out roues. A Peruvian millionaire sent her a blank check and an invitation to return with him to Peru as his mistress, at her own price. All vainly. As she herself said:

"I like journalism better than journeying. As for the Venus, I can make the thousand quicker than F—— can sketch my nose."

This life continued until the beginning of the year 1874. It was one wild orgie—a mad mixture of champagne and whisky, of cab riding and weary plodding, of suppers at Delmonico's and ten cent meals at coffee and cake saloons. To-day flush, and to-morrow a beggar, "bracing" a bar-tender for a morning cocktail. All Bohemia was essentialized, and every phase of Bohemia life gone through.

Sometimes she donned male attire and accompanied a reporter friend on some night journey in the purlieus of the city. At others, clad in the proper habiliments of her sex, she shared in their mad revels in East Side beer saloons, and drank as deeply as the deepest. The money for her excesses was supplied by old enough to be her grandfather, and hopelessly paralytic. He bled money like water until 1874, when he died.

Then the Duches's Bohemian life closed as suddenly as it had begun. One morning she packed her trunk, left a note on her table saying: "This is too much of a good thing. I'm going to jump the town," and was off.

When next heard of she was the shining light of a house of ill-fame in Troy, and there she remained until February, 1876, when she suddenly re appeared in New York. Her success was but equivocal. Dissipation had made its mark upon her, and the ranks of her old admirers were woefully thinned down. So, after a few weeks of obscurity in a Spring street lodging house, again took up a line of march

This time it led her southward. First to New Orleans, where she participated for a brief space in all the mad dissipation of the Queen City of the south, and afterward through various parts of the interior country, until her mad career was terminated by death.

Dalton's Last Sensation—A Brilliant Wedding and How a Church was "Cleaned out."

Dalton has of late developed into a sensational center; but the last and greatest sensation was the marriage, on the 19th of Mr. J. W. Chambers, of Marietta, to Miss Bettie Prater, of that city The happy event came off at the Methodist church, the ceremony being performed by Rev Thomas A Seals.

The attendants were:

Miss Lyda Pittner, Dalton, Zach Martin, A & W P R R

Miss Belle Grant, Dalton, John Varnell, W & A R R.

Miss Mary Trammell, Dalton, Hansel Stockton, Atlanta.

Miss Carrie McCutchen, Dalton, F T Hardwick, Dalton.

Miss Lizzie McAfee, Dalton, John Anderson, Chattanooga.

Miss Ella Pitner, Rome, W W Neel, Chattanooga.

Miss Battie Walker, Dalton, Frank Caldwell, Chattanooga.

Miss Fannie Emmerson, Tunnel Hill, Charles Little, Air Line Railroad.

Miss Lollie McCutchen, Dalton, Captain Colquitt Carter, Dalton.

Miss Mamie Wood, Dalton, Charles Broyles, Dalton

Miss Alice Lyle, Dalton, Thomas Shockley, Marietta.

Miss Maud Stafford, Dalton, Pone Leek, Marietta.

Miss Susie Lampkin, Dalton, W L Tibbs, Dalton.

The brides maids were elegantly and tastefully dressed; the popular color of the trimmings being pink and blue; one of them with her wondrous

CHEVELURE OF RED GOLD,

amber eye lashes, and delicate flush illuminating her waxen skin, well deserved the title of "the sweetest," yet it was generally conceded that it was a constellation of beauty rarely equalled in the south. The bride, who is as charming as she is beautiful, wore a bridal dress of pure white silk. No bride ever looked handsomer. After the conclusion of the ceremony, the attendants and the immediate friends and relatives of the happy couple repaired to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. B F. Prater, the parents of the bride where a regal repast was furnished. It is said that disappeared, and doubtless there were achers among the eaters. The wedding was the ruling topic before its occurrence and stirred the city from center to circumference. From the magnitude of the preparations and the number of attendants, it was believed that it would eclipse all previous nuptial-gatherings. An event took place however, as unexpected as it was bewildering, which at once stamped the wedding as peerless.

The ladies had bestowed extra care in decorating the Methodist church with wreaths and festoons of flowers and evergreens Crowds visited the church during the day, and were loud in their praise of the superior taste of the young ladies. The church looked like the "garden of Gul" in its magnificence. Lo! and behold, when the crowd filed in to witness the marriage the church was bare of decorations. A huge mass of evergreens and flowers rose like a mountain on the outside. The joke leaked out. One of the attendants gave a negro boy a brush late in the evening, with the injunction to and the descendant of Ham never having cultivated a taste for esthetics, construed the order literally, and so perpetrated a huge joke. We draw the curtain over the scene, as the male attendants discovered it. The negro is immortal forevermore, and the wedding will never fade from memory.

He says he thought "dar was gwine to be a prar-meeting," and contends that he obeyed orders to the letter.

CUPID IN DEKALB.

At 8 o'clock on Thursday evening, October 12, 1876, at Oak Hall, in DeKalb county, the residence of Mr A M Hairston, Mr Hilliard F Fowler and Miss Alice Hairston were united in wedlock.

Many tickets had been issued, and at an early hour the guests began to arrive. The house was beautifully decorated with evergreens and flowers. When the little French clock announced that the hour of eight had arrived, every tongue was still, and not a sound broke the silence Noiselessly a door opened and the bridal attendants passed through and arranged themselves on each side. They were followed by the bride and groom, who paused under a beautifully wrought floral monogram, and were married by Dr Fowler.

After the ceremony, many friends pressed around to congratulate them. Soon the happy throng was called to partake of a supper that would have graced a royal table.

When all had eaten, they returned to the parlor where some played, some sung, some talked and all laughed and enjoyed themselves

The bride looked very lovely indeed, as she passed among her many friends, with a smile and word of welcome for all. Her costume was elegance itself. And while speaking of the bride, I cannot refrain from paying a tribute of respect and admiration to her lovely attendants It would not be hard to name one poor fellow who, on their account, lost his heart that night.

The day following dawned clear and bright. Ere the sun's bright beams had dried the dripping leaves, the newly married couple, with their friends, had started to spend the day at Stone Mountain. After a pleasant drive of two hours they reached it. They drove around to the north side, where they secured their horses and then walked out to the mountain. It was a very pleasant place indeed. The mountain rose thousands of feet above them. The shrubby trees were covered with flowering vines that waved noiselessly in the gentle breeze, while the ground was carpeted with beautiful green moss. All around were rocky caverns whose sombre walls sent forth a musical response to each merry peal of laughter. Even the little birds flew, twittering, from branch, to branch, surprised to see their silent home invaded by strangers. And here in this cool and calm retreat, let us leave this happy crowd. For the bride and groom we wish great success. May no more clouds darken their pathway than are necessary to temper the sunshine of life. And when hoary hairs shall adorn the temples of this bridal twain, may they look back with pleasure to the day when they visited Stone Mountain.

The Duty of the Hour.

Our country is rich in mineral, in agricultural wealth. The Creator has bestowed upon us this great legacy and as good stewards we are to see that they are turned to a good and profitable account.

The parties we have placed in power have been recreant of the trust imposed upon them. They have passed bad laws; they have brought corruption, extravagance, poverty and bankruptcy upon the people of this country. It therefore becomes the duty of the American people that they shall elect a competent statesman for president, whose tried experience, good judgment and wise counsel will see that proper laws shall be passed and a proper course pursued that will bring our country through the financial storm that is now destroying its business. One who can raise himself above all party and sectional prejudices and party strife and feel that he is not the president of a sectional party, or of the north, south, east or west, but of the whole country. One whose great ambition will be to promote the happiness, prosperity and greatness of the whole people and country, so that we may be able to say of him as we say of Washington:

The name of Washington, like a fragrant rose,
Wafts its perfume where so e'er it goes.
And if he follows in the path that Washington trod,
He will be loved by the American people and the people's God,
All isms and party strife must sink and pass away,
And the saving this country from ruin and bankruptcy be the order of the day.
Then his name will go down to posterity crowned with as great a fame,
As immortal as that of Washington or any other great statesman's name.

NEWS FROM EUROPE.

Under Orders.

PLYMOUTH, ENG., Oct. 20.—Orders have been received at the Devonport dock yard to complete repairs on the four turret steamships, Cyclops, Hydra, Gorgon and Hecate, each one carrying four guns, and on the iron-clad steamer Agincourt, carrying 28 guns. Three composite gun vessels are building here, and two other vessels in private yards are being prepared for commissions.

The cabinet met yesterday, all the ministers being present.

The Times says the meeting was rendered necessary by the critical state of affairs in Europe, for the negotiations which have occupied the last twelve months are virtually at an end, and a war between Russia and Turkey is supposed to be unavoidable. The cabinet did nothing which can justify the prevailing fears of British participation in the war.

The Times' Paris correspondent says that no doubt the accord between Russia, Germany and Austria can be easily seen. England and France will not break their neutrality, therefore Russia has only Turkey to face.

The queen will hold a council next Monday.

A Hope Left.

LONDON, October 20.—A dispatch to the Reuter telegram company from Constantinople says that Gen Ignatieff, the Russian ambassador, will to-day present his credentials to the sultan. It is believed that negotiations are about to re-open between the porte and ambassadors of powers on a basis of the English proposals.

A Startling Rumor.

The Times special from Belgrade reports that it was rumored there on Wednesday that 20,000 Russians had crossed the Pruth. The consuls general of France, Italy and Austria went to Orzovia to ascertain whether or not the reports were true. No confirmation has been received, so it is probably false.

Prussia Rejects the Armistice.

LONDON, October 20—A dispatch to the Times from Vienna confirms the report of Germany's rejection of the proposed six months' armistice and its acceptance by the other four powers.

The correspondent thinks that Germany throws her influence with Russia in order to force the other powers to agree upon a compromise which Russia can accept. He sees in this a prospect of peace, but nevertheless remarks that the situation is most critical.

The report that two hundred and fifty thousand Russian troops were ready to pass through Roumania, is undoubtedly exaggerated, but a correspondent has reliable information that the three army corps of Kiew, Kharmow and Odessa are under orders of mobilization, and there are other signs of preparations in southwestern Russia. But there are indications on the other hand, that the eventuality against which this preparation must be made, is not looked upon as immediately impending. The force which these three southwestern corps might put in the field, is estimated at one hundred thousand men.

A special dispatch from Berlin to the Times says: "The Italian design of depriving Austria of her semi-Italian provinces is unanimously opposed in Germany.

On the Banks of the Drina.

LONDON, October 20—A special from Belgrade to the Standard says that a serious fight occurred near Saitschar on Tuesday and Wednesday. The Turks are trying to force their way to Paratchin whence their march to Belgrade would only be interrupted by the weak fortifications at Clinpria. Considerable anxiety prevails here as to the issue, especially as this movement seems to be made in concert with the operations on the Drina.

The weather has suddenly changed from tropical heat to heavy, cold rains. This favors the Servians.

A special dispatch from Vienna to the daily News says that the Turks at Saitschar have repulsed the Servians and driven them to a plain near Kohita, and it is said that they now intend marching on Paratchin.

The Council at Livadia.

A special from Vienna to the daily Telegraph says: It is generally considered certain here that the czar has been overbore in the Livadian council by the predisposition of the empress, the czarowitch and Prince Gortschakoff, all of whom favor the views of the national party.

The Policy of Abstension.

LONDON, October 20.—The cabinet has decided upon a policy of abstention for the present at least. In this policy they have the support of the press and the people. This removes from the consideration of the chances of the peace of Europe, one of the elements reckoned on to disturb it in case Russia crossed the Danube. There is nothing in this morning's news to relieve the uncertainty about Russia's intentions.

The London journals editorially seem inclined to abandon all hopes of the preservation of peace between Russia and Turkey.

The Berlin newspapers on the contrary express the opinion that all the power of Europe including England, are equally interested in, and responsible for Russia's action in consequence of the failure of their joint efforts at Constantinople, and it is unjust to suspect Russia of following the dictates of self-interest.

The French papers agree that France will do her best to maintain peace, but will not take an active part should the crisis end in war.

The Irish Address.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—It is found that court etiquette requires that the address from the Irish people to the president of the United States, which was to have been presented to him in person by O'Connor Power and Mr. Parnell, members of the British parliament, shall reach the president through Sir Edward Thornton, British minister, and the state department. There are some phases in the address which make it awkward for Sir Edward and all concerned. It seems likely that the bearers of the address will carry it back with them.

A dispatch from New York represents the Irish citizens there as much disturbed and anxiously awaiting a remedy.

Death of Dr. Fuller.

BALTIMORE, October 20.—Rev. Dr. Richard Fuller, aged seventy-two years and pastor of Eutaw Place Baptist church, died this morning of a carbuncle. He was born in Beaufort, S. C, ordained a minister in 1833. He came to this city in 1847.

ENTERTAINING THE BLUE.

The Richmond People Fete the U. S. Troops.

Telegram to the Constitution.

RICHMOND, Oct. 20.—A detachment of United States troops from Governor's island, New York, numbering 770 men, composed of a battalion of the third artillery and a part of the 11th 23d infantry, commanded by Lieutenant Colonel L. L. Livingston, arrived in this city to-day, en route to Columbia, S. C. They were compelled to lay over on account of delay at Wilmington, Delaware. Soon after their arrival a number of the Richmond military called on Col. Livingston and asked permission to entertain the men, which he thought expedient to decline, but expressed great pleasure at the compliment. Several of the officers, however, were entertained at the Exchange hotel. They leave at 7 o'clock to-morrow morning. Eight other companies will pass through at the same time.

CHARLEY ROSS.

A New Clew—Another Member of the Mosher Gang turns up.

Philadelphia Times, Oct. 16.

Although the police authorities have used every exertion in their power to follow every clew to the Charley Ross case, yet the untiring Times men yesterday obtained the following information from trustworthy sources. One month ago officer Taft, of the first district, was informed by parties, whose names are withheld, that one of the gang of which Mosher was a member was in the city. An investigation led the authorities to believe that the story was true, as the man referred to had been seen with Mosher when the former was in the furniture business in South street, before the child was abducted. Detectives were then put upon his track, and it was discovered that he has been on the road continually, between Philadelphia and Harrisburg, stopping now and then at Lancaster and Columbia, and frequently at a little town on the Susquehanna river, opposite York, called Wrightsville. Detectives were also kept busy in the city watching everything and everybody that had a suspicious look. On the 6th of October, there being then no doubt as to having spotted the right man, Policeman Taft, of the first district, and Constable McKenney followed the man to Harrisburg, where they captured him in a house supposed to be the headquarters of the gang. The following Monday he was brought to Philadelphia and lodged in the first district station house, at Twentieth and Fitzwater streets. He gave his name as Sam Benners, and said that he knew nothing about the case. He afterward admitted that he had known Mosher, but denied having any knowledge of Charley Ross Magistrate Collins gave him a private hearing, at which Mr. Ross was present. Nothing was elicited, and Magistrate Collins, after talking to him for about an hour, left without obtaining anything further. Benning was given another hearing, and he then said that Charley Ross was in Pennsylvania and had never been out of it; that he was not many miles from the city, and that he had seen him not longer than three weeks ago. Where the boy is Benners will not say, but the officers who made the arrest and those who have been on the lookout for the last forty days think that the boy is probably in Wrightsville, or in the neighborhood of Lancaster or Columbia, as in going to and fro between Harrisburg and Philadelphia Benners always stopped at these places. Wrightsville is a manufacturing villiage, and the officers are of the opinion that the gang made it their principal headquarters. It is known that a large number of the gang are here in this city, and the police are just about perfecting their arrangements to arrest a number of them. District Attorney Shepherd was visited by a Times reporter yesterday, and said that he would have nothing to say one way or another in regard to the case; but he admitted that the clew was a good one, and that the boy might yet be found. "There has not been a day in the last month," he added, "that something has not been done in relation to the Ross case." Magistrate Collins, Detective Sharkey and Captain Hines were also visited, but none of them knew anything of the recent developments.

At the first district station house orders were received to give no information in regard to the matter. They refused to tell whether the person under arrest was there or not. It is known that he was there up to a late hour on Saturday night. Mr. Christian K. Ross was visited last night. He also had nothing to say. He admitted, however, that he thought Benners was the right man, and that if he (Ross) said anything "it might thwart the ends of justice." Some of the communicative authorities seem to think that the clew is the strongest yet obtained, and that the speedy recovery of the stolen boy is quite propable.

WAR RUMORS.

THEY CAUSE AN ALMOST UNPARALLELED PANIC ON THE NEW YORK EXCHANGE.

Stocks and Grain Affected by the Prevailing Excitement—Probable Effects of an Eastern War on American Trade.

NEW YORK, October 18.

The scenes in the gold room this morning haven't had a parallel for years At the opening operators began to rush wildly to the ring, and for the first five minutes gold ran up rapidly amid the greatest excitement. It had opened at 110 1-8 per cent, but before the first minute had passed, it had risen by 1-8 per cent advances to 110½ per cent, when it sprang suddenly to 111 per cent. During the next minute the price reached 112 per cent, and shouts of excitement rang out long and loud.

SHRIEKING OPERATORS.

The price then rose one-half per cent at a jump, and during the next minute had reached 113 1-3. Rates then began to recede slightly, and the shout became shrieks, on one side to bring rates further down, and on the other to keep them up. For the next twenty minutes rates vibrated by 1-8 per cent between 112½ per cent and 113 per cent, alternately going up and down. Every time the rate manifested a downward tendency the shrieks would become louder. The indicator continued to change almost with the rapidity of lightning.

THE PANIC SUBSIDES.

After the rate had fallen below 112 per cent, no effort on the part of the bulls could get it up again, and the excitement began to abate, when it was found that nothing could raise the rate beyond 111½ per cent. Since one o'clock gold has settled at about 111½a111½ per cent, not because the war feeling has subsided, but because the extreme excitement in the gold room was not justified by anything that had yet occurred in the markets on either side.

WITHOUT A PARALLEL.

The Evening Post has the following: The warlike rumors from the east, with the possibility that the European powers may become involved in Turkey's troubles, had a marked effect on Wall street and the merchandise market this morning, all having been thrown into the greatest excitement. In the gold-room the scene has been without a parallel for years. Boisterous and excited brokers bid for any amount at almost any price, and purchases, which opened at 110½ per cent, rapidly carried the price up to 113½ per cent. Yesterday morning gold opened at 109½ per cent, so that in two days the price advanced fully four per cent. So large an advance in so short a time has not occurred since the great panic of 1873.

THE GRAIN MARKET.

A prominent grain merchant, when questioned by a reporter of the Post in regard to the probable effect a European war would have upon the market of American breadstuffs, replied that definite predictions could be obtained only from merchants who had been but a short time in business. The older he grew the more ignorant he became concerning the future. Telegraphic dispatches received at the Produce Exchange from Chicago say that the people are crazy over the excitement produced by the sudden rise in wheat in that city.

A BENEFIT TO AMERICA.

The Evening Post, speaking of the war prospects in its financial column says: "Looking over the whole situation, however, it is impossible to come to any other conclusion than that war, even if it is confined to Russia and Turkey, which is hardly among the possibilities, will be all that is needed to thoroughly awaken the dormant industries of this country. It gives us a degree of profitable activity in every branch of business, such as has not been seen for many years."

WAR SUPPLIES.

So far as the price of gold is effected by the foreign trade movement, it must be borne in mind that as respects breadstuffs, one of the great sources of supply of wheat will be cut off, a good part of the wheat which supplies the world coming from Russia; that there will be an enormous demand for our breadstuffs and provisions, in fact all food products; that there also will be a great demand for coarse manufactures and particularly for everything that comes under the head of war supplies; that this demand will directly help transportation lines and all kinds of trade, and will indirectly stimulate every branch of industry, must not be forgotten.

COTTON.

However, at least a part of what our exports will gain in this way, will be lost on cotton, of which we have an enormous crop this year. Whether the domestic consumption of cotton can be increased so as to compensate for whatever reduction there may be in the foreign demand is another question.

UNLIMITED ORDERS FOR GOLD.

It is stated that some cable orders to buy gold this morning were unlimited as to price, and they were quickly executed in the gold room without regard to cost. Hence the flurry on the opening of the market.

AT THE PRODUCE EXCHANGE.

The war news created much excitement at the produce exchange. The sales amounted to about half a million bushels of wheat and about thirty thousand barrels of flour. The export orders and joint account purchase in the grain and provision market are large, and the rise in gold helps this movement. The threatened trouble is a scarcity of tonnage and a consequent rise in freights. The latter already show signs of advancing, especially on steamship engagements.

AGITATION AT CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—There was intense excitement on 'Change for a portion of the day, and anxiety to learn the war news from the east increased until the close. November wheat advanced from $1.11¼, at the close last night, to $1.17, with very little reaction. But from that point it receded quickly to $1.14½, and fluctuated violently until the close, when it was strong. Ranny & Ingles, one of the oldest houses in the grain business, who have always done a large Canadian business, failed to-day. Their liabilities are not yet known.

HEAVY BUSINESS.

The business transacted to-day was the heaviest for a long time, perhaps the heaviest since the Franco-Prussian war. It is stated by good judges that the transactions for the November option alone were 20,000,000 bushels. Cash wheat is at present held in strong hands, and is virtually cornered here, though prices maintain their proportion. The developments of the coming week are anxiously awaited.

NEW YORK, October 20.—The steamer Russia bought three quarters of a million dollars in gold coin, making one and a half million for the week.

L. Q. C. LAMAR.

HE DIDN'T SAY THAT "THE OUTBREAKS IN THE SOUTH WERE CAUSED BY THE YOUNG MEN."

In a Delicate State of Health—He Breaks Down in his Speeches—Has to Speak Sitting, Etc.

Editors Constitution: In the CONSTITUTION of October 13th, an editorial based upon certain allegations of the Milwaukee Sentinel, regarding Hon. L. Q. C. Lamar, of Mississippi, contained injurious criticisms of that distinguished southern leader. It is not at all germane to the purpose of this communication to discuss the ethics of censure of a trusted southern statesman by a southern newspaper upon the unsupported allegations of a radical editor or correspondent. My purpose is simply one of correction of gross misrepresentations of Colonel Lamar. The slander answered the censorious editorial has neither point nor justification.

The statement in the Milwaukee Sentinel was that Colonel Lamar, "under the pressure of the canvass" had made an "explanation," throwing the odium of disorder in the south upon her "hot-headed youths," etc., etc. The simple fact is that Colonel Lamar has uttered no such explanation upon any occasion. Nor has he been under the "pressure" of any canvass. His health has precluded active participation in the canvass in Mississippi. Since the adjournment of congress he has made only four speeches in each of which he broke down, except one, without finishing his speech, and in the exceptional instance he was compelled to speak sitting. These speeches were all made in the county of his residence and the adjacent county of Marshal, and at not one of them was any republican speaker or audience present to subject Col. Lamar to any pressure.

The occasion upon which Col. Lamar has made public reference to disorder in the south, was in one of his public speeches during the recent session of congress. In his speech upon the Hamburg emeute, he pointed out the fact that riots occurred in no southern state where citizens had the ordering of their own government, and he attributes disorders exclusively to corruptions, oppressions, imbecility and guilty connivance of radical governments. He declared that the wonder was that society itself did not go to pieces under such domination. Again in Col. Lamar's speech of August 2d, upon the policy of the republican party, and the political condition of the south, in which there was an elaborate discussion on the philosophy of disorder in the south, where appears the following language applied to the quotations from the president's message which precede his remarks:

"I sympathize with their prostrate condition and would do all in my power to relieve them, acknowledging that in some instances they have had most trying governments to live under and very oppressive ones in the way of taxation for nominal improvements, not giving benefits equal to the hardships imposed."

"Sir, take the features of that statement. What are they? Oppressive governments, burdens of taxation, and prostrate people. What greater woe can there be than this? What more accursed fate can befall a people than such a government as Mr. Hoar describes, illegal in its every department, marked by maladministration, and reeking with dishonesty and corruption; or, as Mr. Foster describes it, an infamous despotism, consuming all the resources of a people? Where, I repeat, on earth or in what age of the world have you not had violence and turbulence where the people are prostrated by the burdens of oppressive government, and tortured and impoverished by taxation? Where have you ever seen orderly, quiet, and peaceable citizens whose governors are lawless felons, whose ministerial officers are forgers and thieves, and their magistrates scoundrels.

And, sir, when this prostrate people, writhing in their agony, turn over and jostle these rickety establishments that would fall down of their own rot if let alone, when, as is almost inevitable, disorders occur, the national authority is called upon, the federal executive is evoked—for what? To protect the prostrate people against these illegal, dishonest, corrupt and oppressive governments? No; but to protect and maintain these governments and to hold the people down in quiet submission to them! What a policy! This great federal government powerless for the protection of the people against oppression of local government, but omnipotent to maintain those governments and enforce their oppressions."

The statements are ample to obviate any misconceptions of Colonel Lamar's position regarding pending public questions. Indeed there would seem to be little opportunity to misinterpret the plain and statesmanlike methods of his public course since the war, in which he has been signally successful in leading the south to perceptions of her altered status in the union, and in beginning the work of educating the north away from the teachings of the radical Pharisees and Philistines who have slandered and persecuted his people.

F. H. A

—An exchange says: "An English writer has been engaged in estimating the amount of gold in the bulk in the world. He says that it could, if melted in a lump, be contained in a cellar twenty-four feet square by sixteen deep. A small lump indeed to cause so much crime and sin and misery." It may seem singular that such recklessness should really exist; and yet we think that we could lay our hand on a man who would be perfectly willing to have that lump stowed away in his cellar, and stand his chances with the sin and misery. It is strange how men will consent to sacrifice themselves; but we believe this friend of ours would do it. His address may be procured by writing to us, and enclosing a sample of the gold.

For Sale.

I now offer to sell one of the most desirable places in the whole South, on which is a good dwelling and other convenient improvements, located in the town of Hogansville, on the line of the Atlanta and West Point Railroad. I have also a STEAM GRIST MILL and COTTON GIN on said lot, all of which is in good running order and patronized by a large custom. This is one of the best locations for a Mill in the whole country. THE typho-malarial epidemic in Baltimore was officially declared at an end on the second instant. The whole number of deaths was forty-six out of sixty-six cases, or seventy per cent. of those stricken. We prefer Bronze John to the typho-malarial.

AT the ceremonies in Washington last Wednesday connected with the unveiling of the statue to Gen. McPherson, Gen. J. B. Hood sent a letter of regret expressing sincere admiration of McPherson for his noble qualities. The two men were class-mates, and Gen. Hood was in command of the army that held Atlanta when Gen. McPherson fell.

ALTHOUGH the democrats carried Indiana by a majority of six thousand, yet they elected only four out of thirteen congressmen. The four however received 18,725 majority against a majority of 12,539 for the nine republican members elect. The state was so infamously gerrymandered by republican legislatures that the democrats must have a majority of 17,000 in order to control the legislature and have a majority of the congressmen.

THE militia system in South Carolina is peculiar. The laws of the state require that an enrollment of all able-bodied male citizens between eighteen and forty-five years of age be made at least once in every two years, those enrolled to constitute the militia of the state. The carpet-bag governors of South Carolina have ignored this law. Governor Scott enrolled the negroes, and the negro militia are now supplied with over 40,000 stands of arms, with an adequate supply of ammunition. The whites formed militia organizations of their own accord, and supplied their own arms and equipment. Governor Chamberlain gave official recognition to these organizations, and became an honorary member of several, in this way partially atoning for his neglect to execute the laws of the state. Now he has ordered the white militia to disband, and in flagrant violation of the law gives the exclusive privilege of forming armed organizations to the negroes.

HON. L. Q. C. LAMAR.

We print this morning a card from Mr. F. H. Alfriend, in which he comes to the defense of the great Mississippi statesman. Some days ago a Milwaukee paper stated that Mr. Lamar, "under the pressure of the canvass, had asserted that the outbreaks in the south were due to the young men." Upon this the CONSTITUTION defended the young men against the assertion contained in the statement.

We are truly gratified to learn from so authentic a source that Mr. Lamar never used the language attributed to him. Our admiration for him has always been profound, and we have regarded him as one of the safest and most reliable—as he is certainly one of the most devoted and brilliant—leaders of the southern democracy. We could hardly accredit him with the sentiment ascribed to him, and yet the statement came so direct that we could find no margin for doubt.

Mr. Lamar's friends—and they are legion—will be deeply pained to hear of his exceedly feeble health. We had hoped that his return to his home in Mississippi, would restore him to health and renew his strength for the terrible battles of the winter. We can ill spare such as he is, from the front of the fight. And yet Achilles in his tent—not sulking, but issuing golden words of cheer and comfort from a couch of sickness—is a power for good, all over the land. It must be a sad sight to see this grand orator, erstwhile so full of electric fire and passion, speaking, feebly like a child, from a sick man's chair. We trust that he may soon be fully restored.

THE PROCLAMATION IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

The Charleston News and Courier, in a temperate and sensible article, shows that no "combinations" exist as stated in the proclamation, and that the 'rifle clubs,' as they are called, are for the most part, names and nothing more. Very few of them, outside of Charleston, have any military equipment. They are mainly organizations for mutual protection, where protection is required, and in the canvass take the place of the campaign clubs so common in the the north and west. They do not parade with their arms. They do not drill. They are virtually disbanded. They cannot disperse and retire peaceably to their homes, for they are at home already.

The News and Courier believes the proclamation will have no effect upon the canvass. It adds:

One great object of the republican leaders is to make the colored people believe that it is their duty to vote for Chamberlain, and that the president expects and desires it. The colored man loves to be on the strong side, and always strives to range himself with those most likely to win in the game that is playing. When they see that troops are dotted all over the state, that Chamberlain makes common cause with rascality, and Grant joins hand with Chamberlain, the colored people will incline to the republican party again, and much of the excellent work of the campaign may be undone. But there are three weeks yet in which to work, and if the colored people see that the citizens who are arrested are quickly bailed, and that the troops hurt nobody and have no love for the negro, the colored voter will soon become as open to conviction as he was before the proclamations were published. It is, however, of supreme importance that there shall be no letdown, no halting in the canvass, or we shall lose white votes as well as black.

We do not see, as we said before, that there need be any change in the plan of campaign. The democrats can still attend every political meeting, and they can go there in bodies, or singly. When the republicans refuse to divide time, as they will always do, the democrats will still have the opportunity to interrogate the speakers. And if that be not allowed they can protest, by their presence, against radicalism and its dark practices, and they can express their approval or disapproval of the speakers in the usual way. To put the case concisely, we contend that the presence of the troops ought not to be injurious to the democracy, because the troops will simply prevent fraud and violence, to which the democrats have not resorted and would not resort, and will, besides, enforce that obedience to law, which the democrats have never refused. And we believe that it will be worth three or four thousand votes to the democrats if a squad of United States soldiers be posted at every polling precinct in Charleston county; for these soldiers will make it safe for colored men to vote for Hampton, and will prevent the repeating, on which the radicals rely for their majority. There is, then, no reason for discouragement. The chances are still in our favor, and the proclamations, instead of disheartening the people, should, and will, encourage them to work harder than ever before.

TAFT'S ORDER AND OUR GEORGIA TROOPS.

In another column of the CONSTITUTION we print an important statement concerning Gov. Smith's probable action in regard to Taft's order, and its power over the Georgia militia. While our reporter didn't get his information from Gov. Smith directly, we are certain that he has made pretty correct surmises.

Taft's order is unconstitutional, in that it is based upon the infamous enforcement act, which has been declared null and void by the supreme court of the United States. The partisan officials, acting under this order, have no real control over the military of this state, or over the people of this state. They have no right to force the people of Georgia to assist them as a posse in enforcing their infamous oppression. We are certain that Gov. Smith will call on the attorney general for his opinion, and that he will decide that the order is unconstitutional, and that no Georgian need obey its details.

We counsel all our people to be prudent, law-abiding and peaceable. But we advise them to utterly and positively refuse to become parts of posses ordered by partisan marshals, and thus become active assistants in the oppression of their own people. Submit to arrest, if necessary, give bail, and then test the validity of the authority under which the marshals are acting. There is no danger in it. And if any of those marshals, in enforcing this infamous order, goes to the extremity of killing a citizen of this stote, it will be the duty of Gov. Smith to have that marshal arrested at once and tried in the state courts for murder. And just here it is a joy to feel that we have a man in the governor's chair who has bravery and nerve enough to stand by his people!

DEATH OF A VETERAN JOURNALIST.

The death of Francis Preston Blair, in the eighty-sixth year of his age, removes from earthly scenes a man who has acted no small part in the affairs of this country. He was born at Abingdon, Virginia, on the twelfth day of April, 1791. After graduating at Transylvania university in Kentucky, he studied law, but politics and journalism won his youthful efforts before any practice came to him. He took to politics as a duck to water.

From 1824, when he was an active supporter of Henry Clay for the presidency, his name is intermingled with the politics of the country for well on to half a century. In 1829 he published in a Kentucky paper an article against the nullification movement in South Carolina. This article took him into journalism; for it attracted the attention of Gen. Jackson, who invited him to become the editor of the Globe, a democratic journal then about to be established in Washington. The journal was commenced in November, 1830, and became the organ of the successive democratic administrations, Mr Blair retaining the control of it until 1845, when he retired, after declining the mission to Spain which was offered him by President Polk. His retirement from the Globe was far from voluntary however. It may be said to have ended his active career; for he withdrew to his estate of Silver Springs, near Baltimore, and did not afterwards assume any journalistic or official responsibility.

His subsequent history shows that he had become estranged from the democratic party. In 1848 he supported Mr. Van Buren for the presidency, and after the repeal of the Missouri compromise act he took an active part in the organization of the republican party. Two of his sons, Montgomery and Francis Preston jr., became distinguished in politics, and both, like their father, went off after strange gods, but both came back to the democratic ranks. One died a democrat, and Montgomery Blair is now an active member of the party. Their father supported Horace Greeley four years ago, and was doubtless a democrat ever afterwards. His death leaves Thurlow Weed the sole survivor of the great journalists who fought or supported the invincible hero of New Orleans. To read a sketch of Francis P. Blair's life is like cutting a slice out of the middle period of the great republic—the transition period midway between the revolutionary and the civil war, when events were showly occuring that meant in the dim uncertain future much more than the actors then on the stage foresaw. Mr. Blair lived to witness the changes wrought by the war that had been brewing nearly all his life. He was one of the brewers in the latter half of his long career.

COLONEL WADLEY AND THE JONESBORO TEAMSTERS.

Colonel Wadley is a brave, bold man. It is well known that he is brave enough to tackle anything that walks, flies, creeps or wriggles in a square stand up fight. We learn this morning that he is brave enough to back out neatly, when he discovers that he has been licked. There is no false pride about him—he never hangs around an ill-omened battle ground in the effort to prove that he whipped the fight, by saying as John Phoenix did, "I dexterously inserted my nose between his teeth, and falling backward inexorably drew him down upon me." No; Mr. Wadley is not this sort of a man—when he is licked, he just quietly picks up all the fragments of himself that are lying around loose, and putting them in his pocket, moves off promptly to look up a smaller man.

So when he discovered that the people of Jonesboro had flanked his raised freight tariff by using a home-made wagon train, he simply sat down and ordered the freight tariff to be dropped back to original figures. In rejoicing over their brilliant victory, the Jonesboro people must not forget the influence that the CONSTITUTION has exerted in this matter. There can be no sort of doubt that this back down of Mr. Wadley's is induced by the enterprise of the CONSTITUTION in alluding to the fact that Sherrard Gay's jenny was held in reserve for the fight that was ahead of the village. Recognizing the possibilities that there were in this historic animal, whose existence he had probably forgotten when he raised the tariff, he at once retreated from his position.

We congratulate the people of Jonesboro on their pluck in inaugurating this rebellion, and Mr. Wadley on his good sense in bowing to it.

A YOUNG French duchess once observed to Madame de Maintenon: "My aunt, you must admit that in England the queens govern better than the kings, and do you know why, my aunt? Because under kings it is women who govern, and men under queens."

A VERY precise person, remarking upon Shakespeare's line:
"What good men do is oft interred with their bones," carefully observes that this interment can generally take place without crowding the bones.

THE Republicans flung out their banner
And shouted "We've got Indiana,"
But all of the gains
Turned out for "Blue Jeans,"
And that's what's the matter with Hannah.

A COUPLE of Boston politicians were talking about General Banks. One of them asked the other how long he thought the general's present set of principles would stay by him. "Can't tell you," was the answer, "they're only glued on."

SO GREAT is the dissatisfaction with the British prime minister that upwards of eighty conservative members of parliament (his own party) have sent him a round robin asking that the country's demand for an autumn session of parliament shall be acceded to by the government.

As the campaign in North Carolina draws to a close the statement is made that the gubernatorial candidates—Vance and Settle—have now traversed three-fourths of the counties of the state, traveling 2,500 miles mainly over rude country roads, and addressing audiences aggregating 100,000 voters.

THE Shah of Persia has postponed his second European visit until 1878, when he will attend the Paris exposition. He will be accompanied by his heir apparent, twenty-two years of age, to whom his indulgent father granted a harem of beauties when the young gentleman had reached the mature age of 12. He also procured for him a French governess, for the purpose of teaching him French and dancing.

A SIGNIFICANT straw is that Morrill has determined to run against Blaine for the vacant Maine senatorship. When Morrill went into the cabinet it was with the understanding that he should stay there in the event of Hayes' election. A gentleman in Hayes confidence, said on Thursday, at Washington, that Morrill had already begun to lay his pipes to beat Blaine, and was confident of doing it.

GRANTISM crushed to earth never to rise again. The bloody shirt will be bleached. Chandler, Blaine, Morton, and the rest, may cease to trouble themselves about a solid south, for they will have enough to do to prevent a solid north. For every vote the republicans may secure by bayonets in the south, they will loose five in the north. The battle will now be transferred to New York, but no fear need be entertained in regard to the state that has twice given a majority for Tilden.—Baltimore Gazette.

THOSE who predicted that our centennial international fair would be the last of the great exhibitions, were premature and incorrect in their vaticination. Preparations for the exhibition of 1878, to which we have hitherto alluded, have been actively begun in Paris under the patronage of Marshal MacMahon and the national legislature. There is also an announcement that Germany will have an international exhibition at Berlin in 1882. This, which will have six years for preparation, will be a magnificent affair.

THE STATE CAMPAIGN.

WHAT HAS BEEN AND WHAT IS TO COME IN OUR GEORGIA POLITICS.

Colquitt's Possible Appointments—The Congressional Candidates and the Work Ahead of Them.

PERSONAL POLITICS.

Who will Apply for the Offices to be Filled this Winter.

—The clerkship of the house will be a veritable bone of contention next January. Mr Irwin, of Cobb, Mr Ed Hill, of Troup, and Mr Speer, of Spalding, will contest Mr Sweat's re-election.

—The grand jury of Warren county hopes that Judge Pottle will be re-appointed at the end of his present term.

—There is more competition for the office of state librarian than probably any office within Gen Colquitt's gift. Notable among the applicants we hear of Mr James Banks, Mrs E H Overby, Mr Fontaine, of Columbus, and Mr Jos D Carter, of Atlanta. It is against the law for a lady to hold office, but the legislature would probably pass an allowance act, if Mrs Overby should receive the appointment.

—Mr. J. M. G. Medlock is an applicant for the position of principal keeper of the penitentiary. Messrs Nelms, of Campbell, and Camp, of Milton, are already applicants. We learn that each one of the lessees now holding convicts have petitioned the governor to re-appoint Mr Brown, the present keeper.

—Mr. Salem Dutcher, of Richmond, Mr Juriah Casey, of McDuffie, and Mr M P Carroll, of Carroll will apply for the solicitorship of the Augusta circuit. Mr Davenport Jackson, the present incumbent, who has won golden opinions on all sides will not take a re appointment.

THE CONGRESSIONAL BATTLES.

—The question is not "Dabney or Felton?" now, but "Dabney or Sheats?"—Rome Courier.

—Mr. Hill in the 9th, and Mr. Stephens in the 8th are the only congressional candidates who have no opposition. Mr. Josh Hill declined the Gainesville republican nomination and gives the Hon Ben a walk over.

—A grand democratic rally is announced at Rome on November 4th: Gordon, Hill, Lamar and others will speak. Barbecue free, and whisky convenient. Good-bye, Dr. Felton!

—Candler had a royal meeting in Zebulon the other day. A flag waving across the street with "one thousand majority for Candler" on it, was the first thing he saw. The streets were crowded—"the little giant" made a rousing speech, and was assured that Dave Johnson would not get ten votes in the county of Pike.

—Mr. W. C. Matthews, Felton's nephew, is a strong Dabney man.

—The Semi-Weekly Cedartown Express is doing noble work in the Felton-Dabney fight. It is a brave and hard-hitting little paper. Tom Gibson is a sturdy democrat.

—The Atlanta Republican has hoisted the name of James Fitzpatrick, for congress. The radicals of the district have nominated Sam Gove.

—Uncle Billy Markham paid a negro $10 in Thornton to make a speech. The negro took the money and then made a democratic speech.

—Hon. Henry Hilliard is playing a lone hand in the 4th. It is said that Harris' majority will not be less than 4,000. Mr Hilliard has badly outlived himself.

ECHOES OF THE LATE FIGHT.

—Old Uncle Norcross goes back to his vineyard. He says gubernatorial grapes are too sour for him, and he intends to devote the balance of his life to the cultivation of the scuppernong and concord.

—Gamble, the regular nominee for the senate from the 42d senatorial district, beat Judge A R Wright about two hundred votes. Chattooga gave Gamble a majority of eight hundred. And now we advise Judge Wright to procure another yankee flag, wrap it around his body and again thank God for the blessed privilege. Selah!

—McIntosh county gave a radical majority for governor of only 43 at the late election, against 454 four years ago, and elected a democrat to the legislature. Old Tunis Campbell has evidently lost his grip.

—The Elbert county negroes have ostracised Chas McCalla, a colored preacher, for being a democrat, and will not allow him to occupy the pulpit.

—In 1868, Georgia for president polled 159,8?6 votes—democratic majority, 45,558. The same year for governor the total vote was 159,946—radical majority, 6,898.

In 1870, for congress, total vote 162,879—democratic majority—25,947.

In 1872, for president, total vote 142,910—democratic majority, 9,802. Same year for governor, total vote, 151,014—democratic majority, 58,004. Same year for congress, total vote, 143,038—democratic majority, 17,192.

In 1874, for congress, total vote, 126,751—democratic majority, 45,113.

In 1876, for governor, not yet consolidated, total vote light and democratic majority 78,000.

Salutary Stimulation.

When vital action is sluggish, a stimulant, provided it be pure and properly medicated, is the most reliable agent for imparting the necessary impetus to the semi dormant organs, accelerating the languid circulation and averting the maladies to which functional inactivity gives rise. Physicians who have employed Hostetter's Stomach Bitters in their practice pronounce it the most salutary tonic stimulant they have ever used, and especially commend it as a remedy for torpidity of the bowels, liver, stomach and kidneys, and as a resuscitant of vital energy. The medicinal value of the Bitters is due to the fact that with their basis of pure old rye are combined, in perfect chemical harmony, the best restorative and life sustaining elements known to medical botany. The Bitters never deteriorate in the most unfavorable climates.

Vital weakness or depression: a weak exhausted feeling, no energy or courage: the result of mental over-work, indiscretion or excesses, or some drain upon the system, is always cured by HUMPHREYS' HOMOEOPATHIC SPECIFIC No. 28. It tones up and invigorates the system, dispels the gloom and despondency, imparts strength and energy—stops the drain and rejuvenates the entire man. Been used twenty years with perfect success by thousands. Sold by dealers. Price, $1 00 per single vial, or $5 00 per package of five vials and $2 00 vial of powder. Sent by mail on receipt of price. OFFICE CHIEF SUPERVISOR OF ELECTIONS, Northern District of Georgia, ATLANTA, GA., October 16th, 1876.

ALL applications, within this Judicial District, for appointment of Supervisors of Election, to serve at the approaching election for Representatives in Congress, should be forwarded to this office (and not to the Judge) as soon as practicable. See section 2011 and 2026 Revised Statutes of the United States.

It would be acceptable should leading citizens of both parties unite in recommending for each voting precinct, as suitable for Supervisors, two persons, one of each political party, who may be able to read and write. Any ten citizens of good standing, entitled to vote in the county, can petition for the appointment of Supervisors.
A. E. BUCK, Chief Supervisor.

Railroad Sale.

Public Notice

IS HEREBY GIVEN, that under and in pursuance of the power and authority contained in that certain deed of trust bearing date the first day of July, eighteen hundred and seventy, and made by and between the Atlanta and Richmond Air-Line Railway Company of the one part, and R. A. Lancaster, W. K. Easley and Alfred Austell of the other part, and in compliance with the direction in that behalf contained in the decree of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Northern District of Georgia, made at October term, 1875 in a certain suit in equity therein pending, in which Skipwith Wilmer and Auguste Richard are complainants, and the Atlanta and Richmond Air Line Railway Company and others are defendants (and in and by which decree the undersigned John H Fisher was appointed a trustee under the said deed of trust in the place of the said W. K. Easley who was deceased, and with all the rights, powers and authority under the said deed of trust which were possessed by the said W. K. Easley in his lifetime), and in compliance also with the decrees of the Circuit Courts of the United States for the District of South Carolina and of the Western District of North Carolina, confirming the said decree made by the Circuit Court of the United States for the Northern District of Georgia—We, the undersigned, will on the fifth day of December next, between the legal house of sale, to-wit, ten o'clock a. m. and four o'clock p. m. on that day in front of the county court house of Fulton county, in the city of Atlanta, in the State of Georgia, sell at public auction, the entire railway of the said The Atlanta and Richmond Air Line Railway Company, extending from the city of Atlanta, in the State of Georgia, to the city of Charlotte in the State of North Carolina, together with all its franchises, lands, buildings, machinery, rolling stock, materials, and other property real and personal, wherever situated and in whatsoever manner held, and whether owned and held by the said company at the time of the date of the said deed of trust, or thereafter acquired.

The terms of such sale shall be as follows:

1st. The premises will be sold in one parcel to the highest bidder for cash.

2d. Ten per cent. of the purchase money of the said premises will be required to be paid to the undersigned trustees at the time and place of sale and immediately after the premises shall be struck down, and the purchaser will be required at the same time to sign a memorandum of his purchase.

3d. The residue of such purchase money will be required to be paid to the said trustees at the office of John H. Fisher, as receiver of the said railway, in the city of Atlanta, on or before the twenty sixth day of December next, when and where the deed of the undersigned, for the said premises will be ready for delivery.

4th. The biddings will be kept open after the premises shall be struck down, and in case any purchaser shall fail to comply with any of the terms of sale, the premises struck down to him will be again put up for sale upon the same terms of sale. Provided, however, that if the holders of any of the four thousand two hundred and forty eight bonds secured by the said deed of trust should, at the sale, become the purchasers of the said premises, it shall not be necessary for them to pay the purchase money therefor, so far as concerns the proportion thereof, which, as such bondholders, they would be entitled to receive if the net amount of such purchase money were distributed pro rata equally among all of the holders of the said four thousand two hundred forty-eight bonds: but, that in such case, the bonds held by them with the coupons annexed thereto shall be brought into the Circuit Court of the United States for the Northern District of Georgia, and the sale to them will be reported to the said court by the undersigned, and a conveyance by them to such bondholders will be withheld until the said court shall give directions in relation thereto and in relation to the disposition to be made of the proceeds of such sale.

We will hold our second and Last Auction Sale of Lots
—IN THE—
Town of Lula

THE sale will commence at 10 a. m., and continue through the day, until we have sold most of the lots belonging to the North Eastern Railroad Company—about 200 in all.

Half Fare Tickets will be sold on Air-Line and North Eastern Railroads. Parties attending from Atlanta will take the Evening Express train of the 24th, or the Morning Accommodation of the 25th.

TERMS OF SALE:
One fourth cash; one-fourth in three months one-fourth in nine and the balance in fifteen months with interest at 10 per cent from day of sale.

To the merchants of Atlanta and Athens, who wish their share of the Western North Carolina and Northeast Georgia
Mountain Trade
we say COME. Those from Savannah, Brunswick, and other sections of South Georgia, who wish healthful homes at a high altitude,
WE SAY COME!

Lula is 1450 feet above tide water; only 6 miles from the old Sulphur Spring; three miles from the Chattahoochee River; commands a fine view of Blue Ridge Mountains and has the best water and purest air in Georgia.

THE MINUTE-MAN.

He left his life that we might live,
He gave us all was h s to give—
His home, his farm, his child, his wife,—
And fell amid the sacred strife.

And if that strife should come again,
That clarion-call to blood and pain,
He from his grave would rise o ce more,
And drive the foeman from our shore.

And, as he leans upon the plough,
Fire in his eye, wrath on his br w,
He minds us that our holy war
Now rages on a distant shore.

There, where the Moslem stabs the slave,
There where the Christian finds his grave,
Their minute-men renew the strife
For blessed liberty and life.

They are the vanguard of the world,
As Greece was when her glove was hurled,
And as all la ds in turn shall be,
Till the earth rings with liberty!

GEORGIA GOSSIP.

—Judge Buchanan granted a new trial on Monday last in the case against the West Point railroad company, being a verdict against the road for near $5,000 rendered at the last term of Campbell superior court for damages for injury to a boy while climbing on a passing engine.—Newnan Herald.

—E. Sauls, of Franklin, from 1½ acres of land obtained fifty bushels of corn, fifty bushels of Irish potatoes six bushels of onions, and about a wagon load of pumpkins, besides spinage, turnips, cabbage and other vegetables sufficient for his family and some to sell. Besides this he has a fine crop of peas on his land now.

—The New Hope (colored) Baptist association met at Fayetteville, Ga., and re-elected Rev. J. M. Jones, of Atlanta, moderator. The association meets at Lithonia next year.

—F. T. Lockhart has been appointed stenographic reporter of the Augusta circuit.

—The Barnesville fair has been postponed until next year.

—S. J. Bell, of Waynesboro, broke a leg the other day, but suffered no pain.

—The Greensboro fair opens next week.

—W. A. Ellington, of Newton county picked 5,846 pounds of cotton in 24 days.

—Mr W S Alexander, of Jefferson co. is now gathering his forty-fourth crop and up to this time has never bought a bushel of corn, or a pound of bacon for his own use.

—Remember Brick Store fair next week.

—Capt A P Roberts the veteran and efficient sheriff of Whitfield county is just completing a handsome residence on the lot occupied by the one that was consumed by fire last winter.

—We learn from Col. L N Trammell that he made 75 bushels of corn this year from one acre, without the use of fertilizers and without having any rain, except one or two light showers, since the corn was in tassel. He says he would have made one hundred bushels with good seasons.—Dalton Citizen.

—During the days of slavery, Rev. James Kelsey, a colored Baptist minister, took unto himself a wife, and was married according to the form then in vogue; latterly the Rev. Edward Crumley, another colored Baptist minister, has been insisting that the Rev James was not legally married and that a license must be procured and the ceremony performed over again. To silence his tormentor, Kelsey procured a license and was married by Rev. F. A. Branch on Monday night.—Waynesboro Expositor.

—J. T. Whitman of Dalton, contributed $88 towards buying an organ for the use of Chickmauga Sunday school.

—Clayville postoffice in Telfair county is re-established, with Mr. H. McLean as postmaster.

—Fair Play district, in Douglass county made 5,000 gallons of fine syrup —an average of 35½ gallons to each voter —Cobb county Sunday school association will meet at Smyrna on November 8th at 10 a. m. The subjects to be discussed are the relations of Sunday schools to the churches, and how can Sunday schools be made most effective to secure the end designed.

—Mr. Rickerson, near Douglassville, made this year, eleven gallons of syrup from one bunch of seed.

—William Thomas, seven miles from Marietta, had been missing goods from his store. He loaded a gun, placed the muzzle against a window that opened by sliding, then attached one end of a string to the trigger of the gun and the other end to a nail in the window. On last Friday night, about 10 o'clock, two negro boys, living in that vicinity, aged respectfully 17 and 12 years, went out to hunt pine. The eldest went to Mr. Thomas' store and began working at the window, the gun fired and the negro fell dead, shot through the heart.

—William Saucer, charged with horse stealing, escaped from Dougherty jail. He was found under a bed, and a negro woman who escaped at the same time was found in a trunk.

—Mr. S. Disheroon and Mr. G. H. Tumlin raised this year, on one acre of land, on the farm of the latter, one hundred and nineteen bushels and three pecks of corn—or more than twenty-three barrels.—Cartersville Express.

Thrash's Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer.

CENTRAL RAILROAD & BANK'S CO., OF GEORGIA
ATLANTA, GA., June 4th, 1876.

Messrs. J. T. Thrash & Co., Griffin, Ga.:

GENTS—Please send me (as before) one largest size bottle of your "Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer"—true to name. It is the only remedy now extant for consumption and diseased throat and lungs. Other remedies, so numerously recommended, are but temporary palliatives, that do any good but for a short time, whilst your Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer gives relief at once and will permanently cure. My experience with remedies for the relief of the throat and lungs probably exceeds that of but very few persons, physicians or otherwise. I have been very near the point of dissolution of soul from its afflicted tenement; and have used every remedy ever heard of; the effect appeared only to procrastinate the sufferings of my mortal existence. Seeing Dr. Lovic Pierce's certificate of your medicine, and being well acquainted with the reverend doctor for nearly forty years, and consequently knew well his afflictions, concluded that your remedy might do me good, at least I had never used it as I had used every other remedy known or heard of, concluded at once to give it a trial. I sent to you for a bottle, as you are aware, and after using it, I purchased more from Messrs. Hunt, Rankin & Lamar, this city. Before the first was exhausted I was fully convinced of its good effects; and after or about the time of the use of the last two, I could speak easily, and could sing; a thing I could not have done for three year or longer; and have been able to lie down comfortably and sleep soundly, a comfort that I had not enjoyed for a long time. I have been using the remedy about twenty days, and unhesitatingly certify that it is a cure for consumption and all affections of the throat. My lungs commenced exhibiting signs of disease in March, 1858, the result of measles, a cough ensued and continued to grow worse. April, 1874, I was so feeble that I could not attend to business of any sort, and was forced to give up and come to Atlanta that I might be near my good old mother to breathe out my last on earth: the never-tiring attention of that mother and your Consumption Cure and Lung Restorer has saved me and I now feel as if my life might be spared me several years longer, Indian remedies, German remedies, and French remedies to the contrary. Respectfully,

JOHN H. MEAD.

GREAT ATLANTIC COAST LINE
—FOR—
THE ACCOMMODATION OF VISITORS FROM ALL POINTS SOUTH

The Railways and Steamship Companies between Augusta, Georgia, and Philadelphia, comprising the ATLANTIC COAST LINE, will during the progress of the Centennial Exhibition of United States, present for the patronage of the citizens of the South, routes of transportation and forms of tickets upon which to reach Philadelphia, that will immeasurably excel all other lines in point of

Direct Daily Movement,
Comfortable Accommodation,
Variability of Transit,
Economy of Expenditure.

To enable this to be done, the combined resources of the RAILWAY LINES SOUTH OF NORFOLK together with those of the BALTIMORE STEAM PACKET COMPANY and the OLD DOMINION STEAMSHIP COMPANY will be employed and the individual tourist, the social party of ten, twenty or more, or the civic or military organization of 100 or 300, can each be cared for in a manner that will satisfy their desires.

Price Lists, Time Cards and all needful information are now in hands of all Agents of the ATLANTIC COAST LINE.

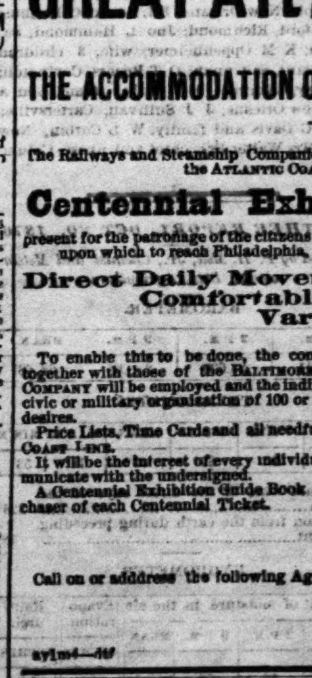

It will be the interest of every individual and each organization proposing to make this trip to communicate with the undersigned.

A Centennial Exhibition Guide Book as authorized by the Commission will be given to the purchaser of each Centennial Ticket.

Pennsylvania R. R.

Centennial Exhibition
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

THIS GREAT INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION, DESIGNED to COMMEMORATE the ONE HUNDRETH ANNIVERSARY OF AMERICAN INDEPENDENCE, WILL OPEN MAY 10th AND CLOSE NOVEMBER 10th, 1876. All the Nations of the world and all the States and Territories of the Union will participate, bringing together the most comprehensive collection of art treasures, mechanical inventions, scientific discoveries, manufacturing achievements, mineral specimens, and agricultural products ever exhibited. The grounds devoted to the Exhibition are situated on the line of the Pennsylvania Railroad and embrace four hundred and fifty acres of Fairmount Park, all highly improved and ornamented, on which are erected the largest buildings ever constructed—five of these covering an area of fifty acres and costing $5,000,000. The total number of buildings erected for the purpose of the Exhibition is over one hundred.

The Pennsylvania Railroad
THE GREAT TRUNK LINE
AND FAST
Mail Route of the United States, will be most direct convenient and economical way of reaching Philadelphia and this great Exhibition from all sections of the country. Its trains to and from Philadelphia will pass through a GRAND CENTENNIAL DEPOT, which the Company have erected at the Main Entrance to the Exhibition Grounds for the accommodation of passengers who wish to stop at or start from the numerous large hotels contiguous to this station and the Exhibition—a convenience of the greatest value to visitors, and afforded exclusively by the Pennsylvania Railroad, which is THE ONLY LINE RUNNING DIRECT TO THE CENTENNIAL BUILDINGS. Excursion trains will also stop at the Encampment of the Patrons of Husbandry, at Elm Station, on this road.

THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD IS THE GRANDEST RAILWAY ORGANIZATION IN THE WORLD. IT CONTROLS SEVEN THOUSAND MILES OF ROADWAY, FORMING CONTINUOUS LINES TO PHILADELPHIA, NEW YORK, BALTIMORE, AND WASHINGTON, OVER WHICH LUXURIOUS DAY AND NIGHT CARS ARE RUN FROM CHICAGO, ST. LOUIS, LOUISVILLE, CINCINNATI, INDIANAPOLIS, COLUMBUS, TOLEDO, CLEVELAND, AND ERIE, WITHOUT CHANGE.

Its main line is laid with double and third tracks of heavy steel rails, upon a deep bed of broken stone ballast, and its bridges are all of iron or stone. Its passenger trains are equipped with every known improvement for comfort and safety, and are run at faster speed for greater distances than the trains of any line on the continent. The Company has largely increased its equipment for Centennial travel, and will be prepared to build in its own shops locomotives and passenger cars at short notice sufficient to fully accommodate any extra demand. The unequalled resources at the command of the Company guarantee the most perfect accommodation for all its patrons during the Centennial Exhibition.

THE MAGNIFICENT SCENERY for which the Pennsylvania Railroad is so justly celebrated presents to the traveler over its perfect roadway an ever-changing panorama of river, mountain and landscape views unequalled in America.

THE EATING-STATIONS on this line are unsurpassed. Meals will be furnished at suitable hours and ample time allowed for enjoying them

EXCURSION TICKETS, at reduced rates, will be sold at all principal Railroad Ticket Offices in the West North-West, South-West.

BE SURE THAT YOUR TICKETS READ VIA THE GREAT PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE TO THE CENTENNIAL.

THE CITY RECORD.

CURBSTONE CHAT.

—The physicians who went to Brunswick during the yellow fever were well paid. Dr Bruns, of New Orleans, was paid $100 a day for every day's absence from New Orleans—$[illegible] 100 in all. Two other physicians were paid $1,500 each. The nurses cost $1,[illegible]00 in all. Total for physicians and nurses $6,000.

—Mr. John R. Christian, of the Sparta Times and Planter, has quit journalism and is now editing a first-class grocery store in Dalton.

—An army officer in South Carolina who married a niece of Hamilton Fish, wrote to his uncle protesting against the dirty political work he had to do in the prostrate state, and said that unless he was transferred he would resign. In a few days he was ordered to New York in the recruiting service.

—The Young Men's Library association will spend $1,200 or $1,500 in fitting up their new hall. New carpets and curtains, &c., will be purchased. The books will be arranged in alcoves, and the hall will be superbly furnished. It will be nearly twice as large as the present rooms. Possession will be given by the contractors on December 12th.

—In our article on the "Georgia Gold Mines" on yesterday an error occurred which was pointed out to us by Mr Frank W Hall, of Dahlonega. Instead of "twenty stamp mills" the types should have said "a twenty stamp mill," and so on through the list. Mr Hall showed us on yesterday a piece of ore from the famous Findley mine that is absolutely glittering with gold particles. It is extremely rich.

—We are glad to learn from Mr. DeGive that M'lle Aimee will give Atlanta two nights of first-class burlesque opera about Christmas. Aimee' stands at the very head of the profession in America or Europe.

PERSONAL POINTS.

—Columbus is proud of the visit of Miss Erwin, one of Atlanta's charming daughters.

—W. H. Williamson, brother of J. D Williamson, of Dalton, has gone to Philadelphia to attend the Jefferson medical college.

—Bishop G. F. Pierce will preach the dedication sermon of the new Methodist church at Resaca on the 12th of November.

—J. H. Lumpkin, of this city, delivers a lecture in Marietta on the 30th on the occasion of the second anniversary of the Y. M. L. A.

—We regret to learn that Col. J. H. Lowe, of Henry county, is suffering very severely from a carbuncle. He has been considered very low, but he is now some better.

—Mr. Jos. Murphy, of Atlanta, was married to Miss Minnie Glass, of Newton county, last Tuesday morning, at the residence of the bride's father, Rev. Mr. Evans officiating. Mr Murphy has won a prize! Miss Glass was one of the most lovely and popular young ladies in our county.—Covington Enterprise.

—We had an agreeable call on Tuesday from W. H. Bailey, of the firm of Messrs. Sisson, Bennett & Co., Atlanta, who was on his way home from the centennial. We were rejoiced to hear him say that the people of the north, hundreds of whom he "interviewed" on the subject while in Philadelphia, are sanguine of the election of Tilden and Hendricks.—Dalton Enterprise.

—John Peek of Covington has applied for a patent for a new way he has invented of opening windows.

—W. A. Shorter will address the people of Atlanta on the political situation on next Wednesday.

—[illegible] R. Christian and E. B. Christian of Dalton are in the city, laying in a large supply of dry goods. We wish them success.

—The Misses [illegible]ammel of Norcross left for home yesterday. There are scores of young men who wouldn't object to being trammeled by matrimonial fetters.

—Judge O. A. Lochrane left yesterday for Chicago.

—Gov. Colquitt and family leave this afternoon for the centennial.

—After a long spell of dry weather, perhaps the longest Atlanta has known for years, we have had an excellent rain. Everything looks clean and fresh, and hence the reason that so many are going to Holbrook's to get a fine hat, of the latest style, and of the very best manufacture.

—J G Reynolds, business agent of the varieties theatre at New Orleans, is in the city. They are billed for the 30th and 31st at DeGive's and will probably open with Richelieu.

—John H. Smith, of Long Bra[illegible] Tatnall county, has been in office 52 years [illegible] has recently received a commission fr[illegible] Smith for four years longer. He [illegible] tended every superior court for the [illegible] years He is now 91 years old, never [illegible] tacles only through curiosity, and [illegible] finest news print by fire light, and [illegible] was a blacksmith 40 years, always indulged in the wine cup, and never was sick but once.

OUR GEORGIA MILITIA

WILL THEY BE BOUND TO OBEY THE ORDERS OF U. S. MARSHALS ON ELECTION DAYS.

Is Taft's Order Legal?—Can Georgia Troops Be Summoned to Carry It Out?—A Very Important Point—Will Our Attorney General's Opinion Be Called For?

We have received a note from an officer of a company of Georgia volunteers, asking whether or not he would be compelled to respond with his company in case he should be called on by the United States marshals on election day.

We understand that Governor Smith has received various letters of the same sort, from officers commanding volunteer companies, asking for instructions. While Governor Smith is of course of the opinion, as every sensible man must be, that he will, in this important crisis, make no hasty answer. He will, we learn, call upon the attorney general of the state for his official opinion upon the constitutionality of Taft's order.

If Col Hammond decides—and he must of necessity so decide—that Taft's order is unconstitutional, of course any order issued by deputy marshals under the shadow of that order are mere empty words—without the vestige of authority or of right. When Governor Smith receives the opinion of the state's legal adviser, he must order the state militia—he being ex-officio commander of the same—to and hold themselves to the orders of their regular officers. This will be a great relief to the volunteers who have been fearing that they would be called upon to assist in the oppression of their fellow citizens, and be left without the right to resist the call.

There is one point further in this matter. If Taft's order is unconstitutional and every competent authority before which it has been brought has so pronounced it—the special officers who operate under its clauses, had best be exceedingly careful to what extent they go. General Lawton, who does not speak impulsively, remarked the other night in a public speech that "Taft's order was unconstitutional, and that any man who enforced it to the death

WOULD BE GUILTY OF MURDER."

Any deputy marshal who in carrying out this order kills a citizen of Georgia will be amenable to trial under Georgia laws for murder. Gov. Smith is prudent and cautious, but he is as bold as a lion when the rights of the people are trampled on. The man who kills a Georgian in carrying out Taft's order will become a party in a cause celebre, if he does not meet with more disastrous results—or we do not know Governor Smith rightly.

THE WAGONERS WHIP.

AND NOW LET THE VILLAGE COCK RAISE ITS CLARION VOICE.

The Freight Tariff Reduced—The Wagon Train Draws Off—Sherrard Gay's "Jenny" not Called to the Front.

Cock-a-doodle-doo!

And now the tired teamsters may unhitch their horses and go squirrel hunting. The palace road coaches may be backed into the barns, and the owls may rebuild their nests therein.

Col Wadley has taken the back-track. He has reduced the freight tariff from Jonesboro to 20 cents again—and from Lovejoy's and Forest's to old figures. The change will take place to-day, we understand. We doubt if there is another instance on record, where the people of a village forced a railroad to abandon raised freight tariff, by putting a country wagon train on the dirt road in opposition. Jonesboro will hence go head on this score. Not a single bale of cotton has been shipped over this railroad since the tariff was raised. The loss to the Central must have been considerable, and Mr Wadley shows sagacity in limbering his back. He will doubtless hereafter let Jonesboro alone. Let us announce to him that the village hasn't exhausted half of its resources in this little skirmish Sherrard Gay's jennie has not yet been used She is still fresh, and ready for any emergency.

TOWN TOPICS.

Members of the legislature are now receiving cards like the following:

"DEAR SIR—I announce myself doorkeeper of the house of representative of the ensuing legislature and respectfully solicit your support. I have always supported the democratic ticket and have never seeked office before." We learn that all applicants for doorkeeper will be asked the following questions: Did you ever keep a door? Did you ever see one kept? Did you ever read a work on doorkeeping? A negative answer will be fatal.

—The American Sunday School Worker for November is the best number ever issued of that sterling journal.

—Gov Smith yesterday commissioned J C York, J P 1,207 district, Paulding county, and the following notaries public in Fannin county: C D Prince, 1,027; C L Gray, 1,025; S H Crawford, 913; W Franklin, 1,130; H H Calloway 1,205; J W Gilliam, 1,047.

—Criminal news was light yesterday. Neither the magistrates nor the police made any arrest of interest.

JOHN WOOD'S TROUBLES.

He Tries to Catch a Runaway Wife and Gets in Jail for Assault With Intent to Murder.

John Wood is one of the few darkies in our city whose troubles originate from his being in possession of a wife. Most of the darkeys have wives, but they can manage them. John got his wife easily enough, but has had a hard time trying to keep her. The husband lives in the city and earns a modest sustenance cleaning out stores. The wife is named Amanda Wood, and although she is the mother of several children, that fact does not appear to have modified her propensity for running away, and John has on divers occasions lost much valuable time in catching her and bringing her back.

Her last performance in this line has come very near involving the husband in serious trouble. It seems that on last Saturday she was enticed away by a negro man named Johnson, who lives some six or seven miles in the country near East Point She left her home during her husband's absence, taking everything portable with her except the children. The husband was absent at his work and was very much astounded when he got home to find no one there to receive him. He set to work, however trying to ascertain the whereabouts of his runaway wife, and by the following day had succeeded in getting on her tracks. Monday evening he started off in pursuit and carried a West End bailiff with him to assist in getting her home. When the pursuers reached Johnson's house he refused to let the woman come home, and strange to say his wife sided with him. The result was that a triangular fight was only prevented by the active interference of the bailiff. At last Wood got his better-half and returned to the city. The next day Johnson had him arrested and put in jail for assault with intent to murder, alleging that he had drawn a pistol on him during the row. Wood remained in jail until yesterday, when he was brought out before Justice Wright, and as no prosecutor appeared he was discharged. He had scarcely reached home before the unfortunate man was again arrested. This time by Sheriff Perkerson, and on a warrant sworn out by his wife. She charged him with assault and battery. Yesterday afternoon his attorneys, Messrs. Moore and Hooks, sued out a writ of habeas corpus in his behalf before Judge Pittman. They alleged that the second arrest was illegal. The case was argued and decision reserved until this morning.

Owner Wanted for a Cow.

There is a small heifer at the guard house awaiting an owner. A negro brought this cow to Mr. Stewart, a butcher on Decatur street on Friday morning, and tried to sell her. He offered to take so little that Mr. Stewart's suspicions were aroused, and he gave the darkey 25 cents, telling him that when he brought a voucher that he came by the cow honestly he would pay him the balance of the money. The negro went off with the quarter and has not been seen since. Mr. Stewart then turned the cow over to the police.

Dahlonega.

It is curious how names become changed in the course of time. We have an instance in the history of the above thriving mountain village. It was incorporated in 1833 as "Talonega" and in 1835 an act passed by the same legislature incorporating "Tilonica" academy, which, we presume, takes its name from the same place. We know not how many changes the name of the town underwent until it finally settled down, and will probably remain forever at Dahlonega.

COURT CHRONICLE.

Fulton Superior Court.
HON. G. HILLYER, JUDGE.

The superior court met yesterday morning at half-past eight o'clock, and resumed the trial of the civil business.

Joe Martin, colored, plead guilty to simple larceny. He was charged with stealing a steer from Mr T A Kennedy. Judge Peeples sentenced him to two years hard labor in the penitentiary.

Joe Brown, colored, who was charged with forging Mr H D McDaniels' name to an order, was acquitted. Van Epps for defense.

The case of the state vs John Lawless, white, charged with assault with intent to murder, was taken up early in the morning, and the jury had retired when the court adjourned

The indictment alleged that on the 12th of January, 1876, the prisoner stabbed a man named Milliard M. Dean. The wound was a severe cut in the left side done with a pocket-knife The prisoner was defended by Judge W F Wright, and set up that Dean was attempting the chastity of his wife, and that the stabbing was done in the protection of his honor. Court meets this morning to hear special motions. The civil dockets will be called at four o'clock this afternoon.

The United States Courts.
HON. W. B WOODS AND HON. JOHN ERSKINE, JUDGES.

The courts met at 10 o'clock. No business was transacted in the district court.

The circuit court was occupied all day in the trial of Stidham & Co., et al. vs the mayor and council of Atlanta. This is a suit for $100,000 damages, brought by the plaintiffs on account of the rescinding of a contract which the plaintiffs claim the city had made with them with reference to building the water works. N J Hammond and R F Clark for plaintiffs; Mynatt & Arnold for defence. The argument was closed at 5 p.m. when court adjourned. The jury will be charged to-day.

AMONG OUR MERCHANTS.

Messrs. Morrison, Bain & Co., have moved from Whitehall to Pryor street, taking the two stairs in the Lochrane building. They have rented the three stories of the building, and can now manage their growing trade.

Captain Kidd's new building is now full on the first floor. Messrs Beerman & Kuhrt have the corner, and Messrs Lynch & Thornton the upper store. Messrs M & J Hirsch our popular and prosperous clothiers, have rented the middle store. They will still keep open their store on Whitehall, and will run two establishments.

Messrs. Schindler & Abrams, a live and deserving firm, have rented Beerman & Kuhrt's old stand, and will move in a few days.

A firm of druggists from Columbus, have, we learn, rented one of the new stores in Grant's capital building.

From Savannah

BENEVOLENT ASSOCIATION,
SAVANNAH, October 19.

S. M. Inman, Esq., Chairman Relief Committee, Atlanta.

DEAR SIR—We have been so occupied as to be compelled to intermit our correspondence for a day or two. This morning we acknowledge yours of the 16th, and Mr Hall's invoices of the 16th and 17th, for all of which accept our thanks. The fever is abating, but it is thought the weather to-day will revive it slightly. We anxiously await a hard frost. Capt Wheaton is improving and we hope will be out in three or four days, but as the season advances patients have to be doubly careful. As the best evidence of the close of a military campaign is the jealous quarrels among the generals, so I suppose we may regard the opening strife among the doctors See Morning News of today, as a good evidence that the epidemic is drawing to a close, that they now have time to throw ink at each other.

No better application of the high school fund of Atlanta can be made than that which the young ladies request, for last evening the case of several poor children, orphaned by this sad pestilence, approached our attention and discussion. The best man in every way to receive and distribute the school fund, is Mr John Gammell, of the firm of Hunter & Gammell. He is just the man for such a trust, and on my application to him, has consented to serve. He is an Episcopalian, and already has taken care of some poor orphans, Protestants and Catholics His large heart and exact business habits peculiarly qualify him for such work, and he will ask Col Olmstead and other such competent gentlemen to assist him. Therefore send the money directly to Mr Gammell.

The orphans now in the asylums and out, are enlisting our sympathies. They want clothing especially, and we have been making appeals to some of our friends especially for them. This money therefore of the young ladies is particularly opportune, and their youthful bodies will glow warmly this winter when they think of the comfort their generous thought has carried to the shivering frames of their less fortunate sisters; and inasmuch, now that judgment of eternal happiness, "In that you have done it unto one of the least of these, you have done it unto me."

We are by no means out of the woods yet, and therefore heartily approve your intention of continuing to ship small amounts of supplies.

Yours truly,
HENRY C. WAYNE
for JOHN R. JOHNSON, Clerk.

IN MEMORIAM.

This afternoon we carried to Oakland cemetery the little form of him whom we knew as Charlie Sanders, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hemphill. He companied with us only two years and a half, and then went away from this earth-life to the happier and perfect existence of heaven, where "resting at the Cross" of the Savior is exchanged for rest eternal in that Savior's presence. "Most wake," said his little brother, as he looked again and again upon the placid but pulseless body; gloriously awake the spirit in its immortal home.

Here, sooner or later, all bright things leave us. There never was a beautiful flower that did not wither, nor a balmy spring that did not pass away. Yet the springtime and flowers will come again; the day follows the night, and sunshine the clouds. But little Charlie comes back no more, unless in the shape of a viewless messenger through the viewless winds to whisper father and mother on and up. Therefore it was hard to let him go—not that in our selfishness we would bring him back, but because he was so dear and we shall miss him so. His bright mind, his affectionate disposition, his generous nature that would always divide even to the half of what he had, won the love of friends as well as parents. The absence of his merry greeting, of the pattering of his tiny feet as he ran to meet you or cheerily to do your bidding, will leave an "aching void." And so sorrow we must.

But blessed are they that sorrow not without hope; thrice blessed they, who when sore bereavement mocks at all human consolation, have a right to the promises of Him, who "spake as never man spake," and can look up through the mist of their tears to a bright blue sky overhead and read there in golden letters, "I will not leave you comfortless, I will come to you." E. Y. C.

Liverpool Weekly Review.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 20.—The circular of the Liverpool cotton brokers association, says that cotton has been in fair demand throughout the week, but with a dull market and a continued desire to sell. The tendency of prices has been in favor of buyers American cotton has been in fair request. It has, however, been very freely offered and prices have partially declined 1-16d. In sea island cotton there has been more doing at prices ½d lower than those of a month since. In futures, business has been comparatively limited and prices have declined about ½d from last Thursday.

IMPORTANT

TO THE CITIZENS OF ATLANTA

AND THE PUBLIC GENERALLY.

JOHN RYAN

Has the pleasure to announce that his general stock of Dry Goods is now complete, far surpassing in quantity and variety any ever offered in this city HIS EXTENSIVE ESTABLISHMENT now extends across the entire block and is about equal to five ordinary stores.

The stock of

is SIMPLY SUPERB, embracing everything new and fashionable. BLACK AND COLORED SILKS in abundance, lower than ever before. He will call special attention only to a few things in the DRY GOODS line:

SILKS, CASHMERES, BLACK ALPACAS, TURPER'S BLACK MOHAIR,
BLACK BRILLIANTINES, FLANNELS, BLANKETS,
FRENCH BROAD-CLOTHS. FRENCH BEAVERS, BLACK DOESKINS, and a complete lot of SUITINGS, LADIES and GENTLEMEN'S MERINO UNDERVESTS, NOTIONS, RIBBONS, etc.

3,000 pieces of Ribbons, all one lot, being the stock on hand of M. Moreland & Co, Broadway, N. Y. sold out by the sheriff, various widths, some of them 7 inches wide, and will be sold regardless of value, 20 cents per yard.

250 dozen French Imported Corsets, the stock of L. Hidelberger, purchased same way, will be sold at a fraction on their value.

CARPETS, CARPETS, CARPETS.

The stock of Carpets, Oil-Cloths, Mattings, Window Shades, Curtains, Lambrequins and Cornices, is full, complete.

50 pieces BODY BRUSSELS, 150 pieces ENGLISH TAPESTRY.

An abundance of all the Carpets made by the Lowell, Hartford, and other carpet manufactories. FLOOR OIL-CLOTHS, the best in the world, from one-half yard wide to six yards wide.

250 Ladies and Misses CLOTH CLOAKS, imported. The newest styles. The styles will be entirely confined to this house.

SHOES, BOOTS, SHOES.

125 cases Ladies, Misses, Children, Boys, and Gentlemen's Boots and Shoes, manufactured for himself. Every pair warranted.

JOHN RYAN will simply say to his numerous friends and customers that he has everything in the Dry Goods line, everything in the Boot and Shoe line, everything in the Carpet and Floor Oil-Cloth line, everything in the Boot and Shoe line, and will sell such BARGAINS as to astonish themselves. So let no representations induce any one to purchase until they visit his establishment. Carpets, Oil-Cloths, Mattings, Cornices, and Curtains, made and put down free of charge.

TRUNKS, TRUNKS, TRUNKS.

A large consignment of Trunks just received, on commission, including Ladies Saratogas, Gentlemen's Sole Leather, and all sizes in Packing Trunks. Also, a full line of Ladies and Gentlemen's Traveling Satchels.

JOHN RYAN intends to make his house the great Southern Trunk Depot, and to offer these goods at prices that will defy competition. oc15-1w
